Quilmes, Argentina

Quilmes is an Argentine Brewery founded in 1888 in Quilmes, Buenos Aires Province, by Otto Bemberg, a German immigrant. The company quickly started growing and in the 20s it was already the most popular beer in Buenos Aires. Argentina's favourite beer comes from the capital, Buenos Aires. It is a 4.9% lager style beer with a very distinguishable taste that is very well known to the South American community. Quilmes is made from the finest hops sourced from Patagonia and using the purest water from the Andes mountain range. It has become something of a national symbol of the Argentinean people, using the traditional colours of the Argentinean flag in its branding. Quilmes also proudly sponsors the Argentinean national football team, making it a high profile beer globally.

Always brewed to 4.9% Quilmes is a classic lager that reflects its brewing heritage: golden colour, rich texture, refreshing light hoppy taste with a crisp, dry thirst quenching finish. Quilmes is a genuine import - brewed only in Argentina. Quality and provenance is assured from its use of Patagonia hops, high quality barley malt grown in The Pampas and pure water from the Andes.
